DETAILED ACTIONContinued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 4-14-04 has been entered.

Drawings

The Examiner's objections to the drawings for not showing the claimed features is withdrawn because of the Applicant's submittal of amended drawings that were received on 4-14-04.

New corrected drawings in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in this application because the Draftsperson has objected to the drawings under Rule 84 or Rule 152, see PTO form 948 attached hereto. Applicant is advised to employ the services of a competent patent draftsperson outside the Office, as the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office no longer prepares new drawings. The corrected drawings are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The requirement for corrected drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35

U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claim 25 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention. Claim 25 is a single step method claim. Single step methods claims are analogous to single means claims, i.e. where the step/means recitation does not appear in combination with another recited element of step/means. Such subject matter is subject to an undue breadth rejection under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph. See In re Hyatt, 708 F.2d 712, 714-15, 218 USPQ 195, 197 (Fed. Cir. 1983). Such a single step/means claim, as recited in Claim 25, covers every conceivable step/means for achieving the stated result while the specification discloses at most only those known to the inventor. Thus, the Applicant has an enablement issue with respect to this claim. This rejection can be easily overcome by.

the addition of an additional step within the claim body to give at least a combination of two steps. However, no new matter should be entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102/103

The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

The rejections of claims 1-9, 12-20, 23-28 and 31-35 under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Brossard in view of Forbes is maintained and incorporated herein.

The rejections of claims 10, 11, 29 and 30 under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Brossard in view of Forbes further in view of Luciano, Jr. et al. is maintained and incorporated herein.

The rejections of claims 21 and 22 under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Brossard in view of Forbes further in view of Walker et al. is maintained and incorporated herein.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 5-14-04 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

The Applicant contends patentability of the claimed invention should lie on: the lamps being selectively illuminated during operation wherein during operation being a time when the gaming system is actively being played; said recitation being premise on the allegation that the prior art does meet the instant recitation because all lamps are lit and thus there is no selective illumination; Forbes doesn't teach the arrangement of lamps and their function as recited in the Applicant's claims; and Brossard does not disclose border lamps around any display that displays a game. The Examiner respectfully disagrees with the Applicant and will try to response to the contentions and allegations presented by Applicant seriatim.

Respectfully, as claimed and broadly interpreted in light of the specification, "selective illumination" does not preclude all lights being illumination, i.e. it is selected by the game machine to illuminate all lights meets "selective illumination". Defining "during operation" as being when the game is actively played is first an intended use and intended usage is considered by the Examiner; however patentability does lie in intended usage of a structure in an apparatus claim or method for using the apparatus. And further, nothing in the disclosure of the prior art used in the rejection precludes the prior art being capable of the exact same intended use claimed. Forbes was not being used to suggest or teach what the Applicant is contending. As clearly stated in the rejection of the claims: Forbes is being used to teach and suggest that it is well known to those skilled in the gaming arts to use colored lights to increase the visual effects of the gaming machines to attract players and keep players interest in the gaming machines. With respect to the last contention regarding Brossard's disclosure the Examiner as gone on the record for the Applicant to prove that the surrounding border be critical to the invention. The Applicant has not bother to demonstrated criticality through the use of an affidavit showing unexpected results. Instead, the Applicant provides conclusionary statements that an patent is deserving because the Applicant "doesn't see it" in the prior art.

In sum, following the Graham factors to the facts of this patent application; respectfully: placing colored lights around a game machine is something that the Examiner is not going to grant rights of exclusivity thereto because the prior art of record and the knowledge of those skilled in the art deem such a feat as obvious in the gaming machine arts in order to attract players and keep players at the gaming machine; thusly increasing revenue for the gaming machine operators, which is what every casino wants to do. It is suggested that the Applicant take the Application to appeal and argue the law to the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences to see if the Board is persuaded by the legal arguments to grant a patent to said instant claimed inventions.

Conclusion

All claims are drawn to the same invention claimed in the application prior to the entry of the submission under 37 CFR 1.114 and could have been finally rejected on the grounds and art of record in the next Office action if they had been entered in the application prior to entry under 37 CFR 1.114.

Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL even though it is a first action after the filing of a request for continued examination and the submission under 37 CFR 1.114. See MPEP § 706.07(b). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
